Rabbi Date

It is one of the desirable products with dark brown or blackish color. Its kharg is red and its date trends to green.

Rabbi date is thin-skinned with a color lighter than Mazzafati date. It has high syrup, low moisture and small kernel and is the most rathe-ripe date of the country.

The date is less sweet than Mazzafati date and has very desirable taste and is palatable than Mazzafati date before semi-dried step.

Rabbi date is one of the popular products, in a way that its yield is pre-sold before production. It is also used as an industrial desired date to produce products such as date syrup, date sugar, chocolate, bar, muffins and raw materials of some soft drinks. Among its advantages is high durability and easy transportation without the need for refrigeration.

Mazzafati Date

Mazzafati date is one types of date related to the Bam city. Bam city is located in Kerman. Mazzafati date has high moisture and hence, it cannot be considered as nuts. It is sold in various countries with different brands in both of domestic and international markets. Its color is shiny black. It is thin-skinned and wrinkles. The skin of Mazzafati date is easily detachable. It has high syrup. Whatever the syrup of Mazzafati date is higher, its quality and degree is higher and so is more desirable. The weight of each Mazzafati date box is more than 10 kg due to its high syrup. The fruit is used to treat diarrhea due to its high potassium. It should be noted about the consumption of date that it should be washed before consumption, because it is viscosity due to its skin's syrup and therefore it absorbs any pollution.

Golden Raisins

Golden Raisins are made from Sultanas, treated with Sulfur Dioxide, and flame dried to give them their characteristic color. This nice product is reasonably uniform in color and may range from yellow or golden or yellow to light amber.

Malayer & Sultana Raisins

Raisins are essentially dried grapes of the "Vitis vinifera" Natural Seedless varietal type and are typically dried by the sun, whether it is on paper trays or dried on the vine. Natural (Sun-Dried) seedless raisins. Iranian Golden Seedless.

Badami (long) is another type of long Iranian pistachios and in terms of length it is shorter than Ahmad Aghaei, and particularly its kernel is very similar to almond.

Akbari (long) belongs to the long type of Iranian pistachios, it is also known as the most expensive and exclusive type among all Iranian pistachios. One of the characteristics that differentiate this type to the other Iranian pistachios is the height of head and is equal in length.

Jumbo pistachio are larger and longer compared to round pistachios. Kalleh-gouchi pistachio has a long history in cultivation as it's been growing for more than 4000 years.

This type of pistachio has round shape and is different than long pistachios, its length is shorter and smaller compared to other type of pistachios. Fandoghi pistachios are the first type in terms of exportation, due to being reasonable in price.

Ahmad Aghaei (AA) (LONG) is also one of long type of Iranian pistachios and the characteristics of this type can be described as long shape but the length size is not always equal. This type Iranian pistachio is the most favorable type in eastern Asia in particular China also in India.

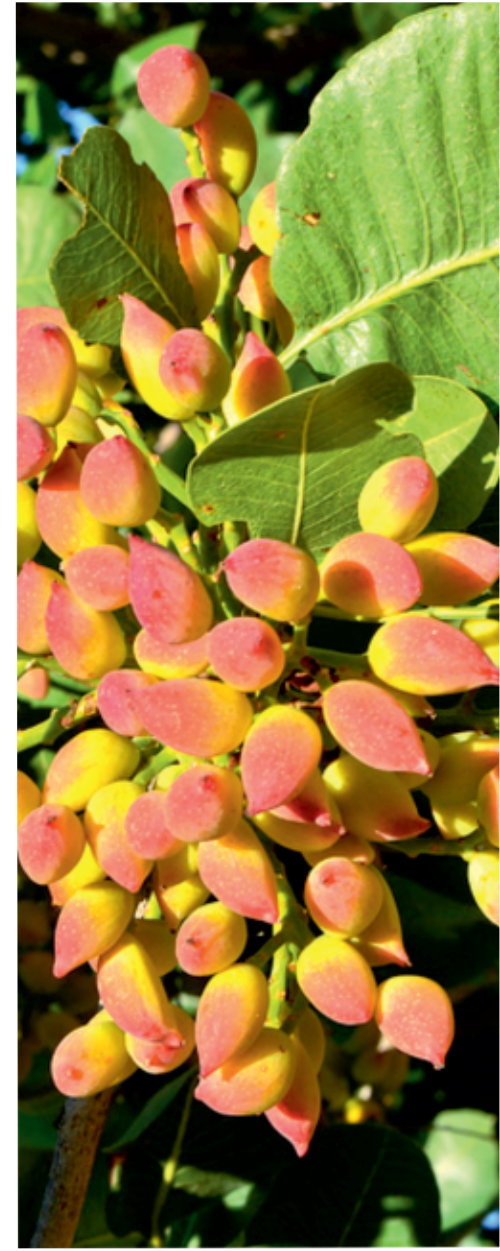

Iranian Pistachio kernels from two types of pistachios, closed shells pistachios and open shell pistachios, and kernels can be from any type of Iranian pistachios. These are taken through shelling process. Pistachio kernels are normally used as a food ingredient in different industries such as bakery products, chocolate and sweet industry, also cooking. A Pistachio has the ability and facility for both types, available to offer with the greatest quality.

Pea has high fiber as like other legumes. Soluble fiber cleans the digestive system as like a bristle brush. This type of fiber reduces glucose and cholesterol of blood. It also declines the need for insulin in diabetics. Among the food groups, peas, lentils and green peas properly provide protein, calcium and iron needed for the body.

Figs

A 1/2-cup serving of dried figs contains 7.3 g of fiber. Including more fiber in your diet can help lower your risk of chronic illness such as heart disease and diabetes. Dried figs contain both soluble and insoluble fiber. Soluble fiber slows digestion for appetite and blood sugar control and also helps lower blood cholesterol levels. Insoluble fiber adds bulk to stool, improving bowel function. According to the Institute of Medicine, healthy adult women need 25 grams of fiber a day, and adult men need 38 grams.

Dried Fruits

Since it is not always possible to keep fresh fruits, humans have always been looking for a way to keep fruit fresh longer. Today, freezing is considered as the best method of preserving food at home, while fruits lose their visual quality if they are made freeze and hence they are not usually used in freeze form. For example frozen oranges, apples, watermelon or banana don't have appropriate for to use. From ancient times, drying, jam making, sugar storing and so on have been used to perceive foods. Sugar nutmegs are in fact dried fruits filled with powder sugar. Fruits such as plums, peaches, berries and grapes are dried and used in the forms of dried plum, plum leaves, dried berries and raisins.
